Jennifer Peyser
Vice President, Responsible Sourcing
Responsible Business Alliance

Jen has 20 years of experience designing and leading proactive, global, multi-stakeholder partnerships and strategies at the intersection of human rights, sustainability, and natural resources. Her work has particularly focused on the mining and minerals sector. She has worked on a range of projects to improve environmental and human rights performance and impacts across supply chains from source to product, including benefits to local communities where development and production of natural resources occur. Jen worked with tripartite partners to design, launch and facilitate the first decade of the Public-Private Alliance for Responsible Minerals Trade. She also has expertise in supply chain mapping, research and joint fact finding; multi-stakeholder standards and standards-setting processes; and, creation of other due diligence and responsible sourcing tools and guidance.
