Kelly Anderson
Director – GPSC Strategy, Risk and Compliance
General Motors

Kelly is the Director of Strategy, Risk and Compliance for Global Purchasing and Supply Chain. In this role, he is responsible for Supply Chain Resilience, Sustainability, Dangerous Goods Transportation and Strategic Projects for GPSC. He has been with GM since 2016 and has held various leadership roles in Chassis and Body Structures Purchasing and Value Chain Engineering.

Prior to joining GM, Kelly spent 10 years in Operations and Supply Chain management consulting, most recently as a Director in PwC's Automotive Practice in Detroit. He began his career with Ford Motor Company and later the Tier 1 supplier Visteon, where he served in a variety of manufacturing and engineering roles.

Kelly earned his MBA from the University of Michigan in Ann Arbor. He also holds a B.S. in Mechanical Engineering with a minor in Economics from North Carolina State University. He represents GM as the Executive Champion for the Ross School of Business at the University of Michigan.

On the personal side, Kelly lives in Northville, MI with his wife and 3 teenagers. Between baseball, football, basketball and cheer, the Anderson family calendar stays full. When not supporting his kids' endeavors, Kelly enjoys travel and anything outdoors, especially exploring the local Michigan mountain biking trails.
