Heather Burke
Extended Producer Responsibility Lead
Stellantis

Heather Burke is the Extended Producer Responsibility Lead for Stellantis. She is responsible for managing compliance with emerging Extended Producer Responsibility (EPR) laws in North America and assisting with global initiatives. Heather works closely with internal packaging groups and external stakeholders to ensure reporting and other compliance requirements are met.

Prior to joining Stellantis, Heather led many product stewardship projects on behalf of the Mopar Global Product Regulatory Compliance organization. Heather is also engaged in the USCAR EPR working group, assisting in preparation and execution of monthly meetings. Heather has a background in environmental science and received her B.S. in Fisheries Biology from Michigan State University.
